MONDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 12.

Some of the ill-advised defenders of the platform adopted by the recent democratic State convention labor under the delusion that that platform comports in all essential particulars with the platform of the national democratic party as adopted at Chicago, and upon which President Cleveland was elected To show them how egregiously mistaken they are, it is only necessary to quote the following planks from the two platforms

[State Platform.]

We demand a repeal of the internal revenue system, a relic of the war, and no longer necessary to meet the demands of the government.

We favor raising the revenue requisite for the support of the federal government by a tariff upon imports, limited to the necessities of government conomically administered, and so adjusted in its application as to prevent unequal burdens, encourage productive interests at home, the development of our material resources, and afford just compensation to labor, but not to foster monopolies.

We earnestly advocate liberal appropriations by the federal government out of the national revenues in aid of the education of the children of the several States in proportion to illiteracy in accudance with the provisions of the Blair bill or some better measure.

[National Platform ]

The system of direct taxation known as the "internal revenue" is a war tax, and to long as the law continues the money derived therefrom should be secredly devoted to the relief of the people from the remaining burden of the war and * be made a fund for the payment of pensions, &c.

It (the republican party) professes the protection of American manufactures-it has subjected them to an increasing flood of manufactured goods, and a hopeless competion with manufacturing nations, not one of which tax s raw mate = * We denounce the abu es of the existing tariff, and subject to the preceding limitations, we demand that federal taxation shall be exc'usively for public purposes and shall not excced the needs of government economically adn inistered.

We are opposed to all propositions which, upon any pretext, would convert the general government into a machine for collecting taxes to be distributed among the States or the citizens

Some of the defenders referred to render themselves absurd by pretending to doubt the democracy of those real democrats who repudiate the Roanoke platform.

THE PROPOSED monument to General Lee will not only commemorate him, but the cause to which he was devoted. He honored and revered that cause, and deemed his service to it only second to that to his God. But General Mahone attempted to cast dis honor and reproach upon that cause by op posing and defeating a proposition to repeat the statute prohibiting ex Confederates from holding commissions in the army. If General Lee were alive, and this country at war with England, he could not hold a lieutenant's commission, by reason of General Ma hone's one vote in the U. S. Senate. And yet there are ex-Confederates who say General Mahone should be invited to take part in the ceremonies incident to the laying of the corner stone of the Lee monument!

Two or the customs' house inspectors at New York were detected last week while engaged in smuggling operations. They were old republicans, had been in office for many years, one of them for twenty, and had been retained by the present democratis collector for the reason that the removal of republicans is not agreeable to the President. It would have been better for the country and for the democratic party if the latter's demand, that the rascals be turned out, had been granted, as promised.

AMONG THE nominees of the labor party in Cincinnati for the Ohio legislature is a colored waiter named Page, who has pledged the solid negro vote of that city to the labor ticket. Mr. Page may get the votes of his own race, but, judging by the ex perience of other negro nominees in all sections of the country, he will be sadly deceived if he shall expect to receive the solid vote of the white members of his new party

AS SENATOR RIDDLEBERGER'S opposition to Mr. Walker, the republican candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney for Shensudoah county, defeated the latter last spring, and as the same Mr. Walker is the republican candidate for State Senator from the Shenandoah district this fall, and still has the opposition of Senator Riddleberger to contend with, it is more than probable that in his, as in all other cases, a like cause will produce a like effect. For the good of the State it is hoped it may be so.

THE NEW U. S. minister at Stockholm is charged with being a successful competitor with the professional guides of that city for the patronage of American visitors. The guide business is about the only sort of public business an American minister can possibly bave at Stockholm, and there is no legal or moral objection to his engaging in it. The taste exhibited thereby, and the discredit it reflec supon his country are maiters of another kind.

As THE nation freed the colored people, and made their education compulsory by prohibiting race distinction in the States, the expense of educating them should unis equally certain, that with the vast majori- mer Hunter for the House of Delegates.

ty of people, white as well as black, the more the Government does for them, the less they do for themselves.

ACCORDING TO the Washington Post, twelve of the President's pension vetoes were not, as has heretofore been believed, intended to save the people's money, but, on the contrary, to increase the arrearages of the pensioners to the extent of sixteen thousand dollars.

REFORM IN the municipal government at Richmond seems to be as unfortunate as it is in the national government at Washington. As many frauds have been committed in the name of reform as crimes in that of liberty.

Special Correspondence of the Alexa. GAZETTE] WASHINGTON, D. He also said that if elected he would vote for Gen. Mahone for U.S. Sepator if the General be the better man, but that he would not vote for Mr. Barbour. Those to whom he was talking do not think he will be a candidate on the day of election.

Quite a large excursion party from Richmond are here to-day. Among them are some democratic "workers." They say that had the democratic primary been held there this week, as once intended, there would have been great danger of defeat, but that as it has been put off, as the law and order league have determined to take no part as an organization in the election, and as a strong city executive committee has been formed, they think the four members of the legislature from that city will be democrats.

It is said that some of the women who visited the exhibition hall of the medical congress, lately in session here, carried their thievery to the extent of stealing handsome pocket cases of surgical instruments, and that their behavior in other re spects was not calculated to produce a fa-

A telegram from New York, received here to day, says a report of a called session of Congress is in circulation there. It is without foundation. Mr. Carlisle will soon leave here for a long visit to his son in Kaneas, and the President will leave in about three weeks for an extended trip, and it is hardly possible an extra session will be held with both the President and the Speaker

It is said here that while it will be an easy matter to get a successor to Assistant Secretary of State Porter, it will be a very difficult matter to get a proper one, as a high grade man is required for that position, and as no man of that kind will submit to the captious, ill-natured and supercitious temper that has characterized Mr. Bayard's official behaviour ever since he has been Secretary

Volunteer and Thistle.

The first trial race to select the defender of the America's cup against the Scotch cutter Thistle will take place to-morrow. The Volunteer went on the dry dock at New York on Saturday to be cleaned for the contest. The general impression is that she will have little difficulty in distancing is that she will have little difficulty in distancing the Mayflower, though there seems to be just a shade of fear that perhaps, after all, the steel sleep will not have the honor of defending the America cup. The inequalities of the hull of the Volunteer are very apparent, and are due as much to the easting as to the inexperience of the workmen who riveted the steel plates on her frame. General Paine and Mr. Burgess, the designer of the Volunteer, it is said, are by no means as confident of beating the Mayflower as they were some time ago. Mr. Enrees, it is said, does not feel at fident of beating the Mayflower as they were some time ago. Mr. Eurgess, it is said, does not feel at all convinced that the Volunteer will beat the Mayflower. The great mystery as to the hull of the Thistle, so sedulously kept from the public, has, it is thought, been solved. A diver got under the Thistle's hull, and discovered that her general plan below the water line is much more like the American sloop than the English cutter. Her keel is four feet deep, the garboards four feet and the bilge six feet. He found, too, there was no "ingenious contrivance" by which the yacht could "rest while in motion on a cushion of air bubbles." ## The Lee Monument.

The citizen of Richmond are in a state of indignation over the refusal of their Common Council to appropriate the sum of fifteen thousand dollars towards defraying the expenses of laying the Lee monument corner-stone. This action comes from a singular condition of affairs in the city government. During the last municipal election the majority of the councilmen elected were members of what was then called the reform ticket, which was made up of knights of labor and "kicking" democrats and re-publicans, who were dissatisfied with the administration of the city government. Since their official career began the reform ers have in several instances disagreed among themselves; and, indeed, in this instance some of them refused to vote with their former associates on the Lee monu-ment resolution. Yet their defection was not of any benefit to those who hoped to get the required aid for the monument, get the required aid for the monument, cause a few young lawyers who are cause a few young lawyers who are cause of the Council learnedly cause charter did for the refusal to vote for the appropriation were that the members had not yet received cards of invitation to the corner stone lay-ing; that some of them would not be made aids in the procession; that the pageant was simply gotten up to benefit the upper classes; that the proposed monument was to be put outside the corporation limits; that if Lee were alive he would dislike any such the outlay. A subscription was started by the State newspaper with the aim of raising the needed amount by popular subscription, and so far about $700 has been subscribed. What has aggravated the indignation has been the prompt offer from several small that their capture will break it up. towns to donate not only a site for the monument, but the entire sum that the City Council refused to give.

A dispatch last night says at the meeting of the reform city council to night another attempt will be made to secure an appropriation. The amount asked for will be reduced from $15,000 to $4,000.
